Maine Wilderness Adventure 2010

July 17 – August 10, 2010

An extraordinary adventure and challenge in the grand state of Maine

Birch Rock Camp's Maine Wilderness Adventure (MWA) program combines challenge, teamwork, and a genuine appreciation for the natural world in which we live. Most of all, this program provides a special opportunity to expand upon one's overall camping experience and develop skills in outdoor living and survival.

The various venues explored during this 24 day exploration include: six days of backpacking and exploring the lakes and mountains of Baxter State Park before summiting spectacular Mount Katahdin, the highest peak in Maine; five days on the St. Croix River, one of the most remote waterways of the state; followed by three days and nights you will kayak among the islands and inlets of "Downeast" Maine from Cobscook base camp; and the adventure continues for two days of climbing at Acadia National Park to ramp around the coastal hills and take a trip to the beach. The last stop is the mighty Kennebec River for a wet, wild day of laughter and screams of exhilaration as we raft through sharp turns, dramatic drops and standing waves.

The MWA Program is for boys who have completed grade 8 and have demonstrated exemplary character in their community. All applicants will be considered on a first-come basis and review of application. There is a limited enrollment of 8 boys for this outstanding adventure so act now.
